B-School Survey-2015

Business & Management Chronicle along with its online partner chronicleindia.in has come up with the B-Schools rating survey 2015. The motive of the survey is to assist those young boys and girls who wish to join B-Schools that can enable them to explore their potential and earn a respectable job in good organisation.

The survey covers colleges across India and includes the old as well as new Business Schools providing full-time MBA programmes. Since last five years we are conducting this survey and ranking the institutions based on various parameters like accreditation, pedagogy, faculty, guest faculty, industrial visits, placements, fee-structure along with the basic facilities like computer labs, Wi-Fi, library, hostel facilities, auditoriums etc. to help our esteemed readers and students to find a good B-school.

Besides, we have ranked the institutes (who responded to our survey questionnaire) under each category like academics, intellectual capital, infrastructure, students & admission process. In addition, we have also conducted mini-survey of colleges to find the top ten institutes based on placement, industry interaction, ROI etc. Based on the response of the B-schools we have given a list of global recruiters and top hundred domestic recruiters.

Further, to help the student in finding a good management institution in his/her home-state we have given a region-wise top B-schools.

In the present scenario, where the numbers of Business Schools are mushrooming, we are sure that those who are looking for admission in to a B-School would definitely find this survey valuable.

Methodology

The Survey was conducted in four phases. To begin with professionals from B-schools and corporate were consulted for finalizing the survey questionnaire. These questionnaire were sent to more than 1000 business schools. More than 100 responses were received. Those which did not contain full information were not included in the survey.

In the second phase the data received from various B-schools were tabulated under different parameters that determine the excellence of an institution like faculty, infrastructure, courses offered, placement, academia-industry interface and so on.

In the third phase our team visited few business schools to ascertain the reliability of information provided and have a first-hand view of the business school.

In the last and the fourth phase an in-depth analysis of the gathered information was done with the help of research tools. During this analysis process certain parameter are given more weightage than the other. Amongst the parameters, placement was given the highest weightage as it plays the most important role while choosing a B-school for a student. Next major determining factor was the teaching faculty as it is the backbone of any institution. In fact, the essential factor that differentiates a good B-school from the not-so-good is its faculty.Then comes infrastructure, followed by industry-academia interface.

Based on these factors and weightage given to each parameters we have graded the institutions in seven categories – A+++, A++, A+, A, B++, B+, & B.
